WIFE SAVED

But Two Children Perished in Burning Building.

Horrible Death of Two Little Sons of William Stone, of Caldwell County.

News has reached here of the horrible death of the two little sons of William Stone, in Caldwell county. The mother of the children left the house for a short while and fearing her sons, aged 12 and 14 respectively, would venture out of the ice pond near by, locked them in a room.

The father working near by in a field discovered the house was on fire and rushed to it as quickly as possible. When he reached there the mother had arrived and was trying to enter the building which was a mass of flames. The roof fell in and the two boys perished in the flames.

The mother as she stood in the door was partly caught under the burning roof, and her face and hands were badly burned. The husband seized his wife and carried her into the front yard, but it is feared the woman cannot live, as she inhaled the flames. The husband, who is a nephew of ex-Governor Stone, of Kuttawa, is prostrated over the sad accident.

HOWARD SET FREE.

Killed Man in Missouri Just Before Christmas.

John A. Howard, (better known as Willie) Howard who shot and killed James W. Gordon at Brookfield, Mo., Dec. 17 last, has been released from custody, his trial having been concluded. Howard was formerly an L. & N. fireman on the Henderson division and is well known here. He is a brother-in-law of Mr. L. D. Burkholder, of Crofton.

The killing occurred in a saloon in which Gordon was one of the proprietors. Howard had some trouble with the saloon porter and later the difficulty was renewed when the porter struck him with a beer mug. Howard shot the negro in the hip, and when Gordon engaged in the row, he fired twice at him, mortally wounding him.

Howard moved from Madisonville to Missouri about two years ago and is engaged in the insurance business with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

SOLDIER RETURNS.

Osmann Freeman Back From Long Services in the Philippines.

Osmann Freeman, a young Hopkinsville soldier who has just returned from the Philippines, arrived home Wednesday afternoon from San Francisco. He has been nearly four years in the United States army, the last three years of the time in the Philippines. He was mustered out with the last lot of volunteers. Young Freeman is a son of Mr. R. D. Freeman, of this city, and he reached home in fine health and was warmly welcomed by his family and friends.

Nearly all of the Hopkinsville boys have now returned, except a few who have re-enlisted in the regular army.

RECEIPTS INCREASING.

But Cash Sales Still Light--Prices Satisfactory.

Receipts since last report, 365 hogheads; receipts to date, 1,620 hogheads. Sales were small this week and the character of the tobacco offered was very common, but prices were fully up to former quotations. The marketing of the new crop is still being delayed by the bad condition of the roads. The loose market is very active, with heavy receipts from the country near by.

SENATE RECOMMENDS

Removal of Commissioners Opposed to Asylum Gambling.

Several Bills Passed In The House And a Few in The Senate.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 25.—The Senate met this morning at 10:30 o'clock, President Utley presiding. Senator Watson presented a petition from C. I. Caulfield containing charges of mismanagement against the officials of the two State prisons. On motion of Senator Farris, the petition was tabled by a strict party vote of 21 to 11.

Senator Carroll introduced a resolution rectifying the fact that veterans of the Mexican War were receiving meager pensions not commensurate with their distinguished services, and asking Congress to increase their pensions. The resolution was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The report of the Committee on Charitable Institutions recommending sundry appropriations for the asylums and the removal of certain commissioners of the Hopkinsville Asylum came up as a special order.

The part of the report recommending appropriations was unanimously adopted, but the Republicans voted solidly against the recommendation that the commissioners be removed, it was adopted by a vote of 24 to 11.

The Allen bill authorizing non-competing railroad companies to consolidate was amended so as not to apply to bridge companies and passed. It is principally for the benefit of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, which wishes to combine its various lines in Kentucky under one management.

The Byron bill providing for advertising in newspapers all sales of property of over $100 in value, under judgment of court was passed.

The Byron anti-trust bill, which is a copy of the Texas law and a stringent one, was passed unanimously.

Six new bills were introduced, bringing the Senate bills up to 241.

PASSED IN THE HOUSE.

In the House 16 bills were introduced, making 405, or a total in both houses of 706.

The State Fair Bill, which makes an annual appropriation of $15,000 for premiums at the State Fair to be held annually under the auspices of the Kentucky Live Stock Breeders' Association, was passed by a vote of 66 to 15. An amendment provides that any surplus at the end of one year's fair shall be held for the benefit of the fair the next succeeding year. Several other amendments were voted down, the one just specified being the only one to pass.

The House passed the Edwards bill, fixing permanently, as they are at present, the salaries of the Louisville City Court officials, the Bailiff, the Police Court Clerk, the Judge and others, and also providing that the Police Judge can take his annual vacation of two months whenever he desires, instead of only in July and August, and that he shall not lose his salary while absent on this vacation or while he is ill.

Mr. Burkamp's bill allowing the district of Clifton, Campbell county, to issue refunding bonds was passed by a unanimous vote.

The bill of S. W. Adams, of Kenton county, allowing property holders in cities of the sixth class to pay for sidewalk construction on the ten-year installment plan was passed.

By a vote of 48 to 12, the House refused to make a special order of the Telephone Commission Bill, and allowed it to drop into the orders of the day, where 130 bills are ahead of it.

The Revenue Bill was recommended to the Committee on Revenue and Taxation in order that the insurance men and others might be given a hearing.

The bill was then considered at the afternoon session was House Bill No. 2121, by Mr. Renick, making it a felony for any person to sell the personal property of another and appropriate the proceeds fraudulently. It was passed unanimously.

Mr. Edwards' bill increasing the penalty for shooting at another from ambush was passed, the House refusing to substitute for consideration Mr. Drewry's bill, No. 302, codifying the laws affecting the Louisville Sinking Fund Board.

Mr. Weatherford's bill fixing eight hours as a day's labor for miners was taken up. A motion to recommit was carried by a vote of 39 to 37.

Mr. Denton's bill making it a misdemeanor to kill song birds or destroy their nests was passed unanimously.

The bill assigning Bardwell to the fifth class and Earlington to the fourth class was passed. Registration of voters in Earlington will be required if this becomes a law.

WEDNESDAY'S WORK.

Another Busy Day in the General Assembly.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 26.—The Byron Antitrust Bill, which has been put through the Senate by the unanimous vote of that body, and sent to the House for concurrence, which it will receive, is drafted after the Texas law. That law has been tested before the United States and held to be constitutional.

The feature of the day in the Senate was the passage of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition bill, introduced by Senator Cox, of Mason. The bill carries an appropriation of $100,000, and is amended to provide that the fund may be increased by subscriptions from cities, towns or private parties. The Cox bill is ahead of the Tompkins bill, similar to it introduced in the House, and may be expected to pass the House and become a law.

When the Senate convened the committee bill to allow John Feland, of Hopkinsville, and Senator Edwards each $250 for expenses of the contest for the office came up for a lively debate. Speeches for and against the bill were made and amendments offered, but the bill as it stood passed by a vote of 23 to 3.

The Byron bill, to eliminate professional jurors from jury service, passed.

Senator Sublett's bill, to provide that the Commonwealth's Attorney shall examine witnesses before the grand jury in felony cases, passed.

IN THE HOUSE.

The house was a trifle late convening, on account of the fact that the Democratic members were up till 2 o'clock this morning in the caucus on the judicial redistricting bill. The result of the caucus was the adoption of the bill as drafted by the committee, with the exception tion of the swapping of Nicholas and Bracken counties from their respective districts. This puts Nicholas in the Eighteenth and Bracken in the Nineteenth. This "swap" caused the Chandler-Byron controversy a few evenings ago.

The House got down to work at 10:40, and the reports of committees were taken up.

The Committee on Education reported favorably the Wells school book bill, which is the Chinn school book bill of last session redrafted.

The Payter bill to cede the United States government building passed.

The Senate Committee on Education will kill the Hickman school bill, which is the China bill redrafted, and if the Wells bill goes to the Senate it will doubtless be killed by the same committee.

The Denton bill, to declare creeks, public ditches and to prevent dams or collection of drifts to dam such creeks and drainage ditches running into them, passed unanimously.

The Nuckols bill, to appropriate $10,000 for the Kentucky Children's Home Society of Louisville, passed unanimously.

The Committee on Appropriations recommended for passage the bill appropriating $50,000 for the Deaf and Dumb School at Danville.

Senator Hickman's bill to permit the Auditor to sue the estates of idiots and insane persons for payment for maintenance of such persons in the State institution, when they are able to pay, passed the House by a vote of 60 to 0. Under the present law the institutions must bring suit.

STRUCK BY BUMPER.

Old Man Killed By Cars Near Pembroke.

John Dickinson, a colored farm hand of the Pembroke neighborhood, was struck by an L. & N. freight train, one mile north of Pembroke, Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock and fatally injured. Dickinson was walking on the track and when he heard the train approaching stepped off, but failed to get sufficiently far away and was hit by the bumper of the engine and hurled a considerable distance. One side of his body was badly crushed. The train was stopped and he was taken aboard in an unconscious condition and carried back to Pembroke, where he died in a few hours. Dickinson was 60 years old and leaves a wife.

Coroner Aliensworth held an inquest Monday.

DEMOCRATIZING TO SAILORS.

Are the Ports of New York and Port Luis, Oregon.

Foreign sailors say that the port of New York is a land of uncrossable place, and it is reported as extending "the seas over." From Liverpool to Hong-Kong, says the New York Evening Post, where there gather crews of the deepest melancholy, one hears curse on York, the gay town; York, the tame town, where Jack gets beaten and bluffed, shamed and sold for gold. But though he may get as far away from Manhattan as is possible, he is always sure to turn about and is never faring back.

In this he is never disappointed. His American brother is simply protected by the Seamen's Union, the Legal Aid Society, and the Marine Hospital, and the land-sharks are forced to depend for their game on "foreign bottoms." The "game" may have deserted his ship, prompted by a curiosity to "see things" in New York; he may be just out of a hospital, physically weak, but strong in his taste for dissipation; his ship may be waiting for a cargo, or he may be a tramp "bumming" his way home. One may see those poor fellows along the docks, or ailing in front of the drugshops, or in some doorway sleeping off a night's orgy.

One may find them, still, in the saloons of the city, or in the dispensaries of the various temperance societies. For example, "What day in think?" N.Y.C. 3rd was asked of a young English sailor, who was ailing in a New York hospital recently. The answer was, "I am doing the best I can, thank you, however. I am not here as I would be. I am here because I am ill."

One may find them, still, in the seaman's school of comparison for the ports of the world.

Present day seamen come far from being the strong, rugged men that romance and fiction have made them out to be. Deepsea vessels no longer sail the world round past time and four-limbed changes in the course. The men are naturally improvident and sold an early sufficient clothing. At the Battery dispensary of the United States Marine hospital 500 "outdoor" cases were attended to last month and 35 at the hospital at Stapleton, S.I. The sick of the foreign merchant vessels in the harbor are sent to Long Island College hospital which last month cared for not less than 40 patients. This, in comparison with the American sick list and the large number of foreign seamen in port, during this cold and raw weather, is very small and leaves the impression that possibly there are many who should go that never do.

Crews that come into the harbor aboard foreign ships are usually taken on to land wages, and that means that they never receive papers which will hold them for three years, or until a ship enters a home port again. The seafarers—New York's are foremost, and claimants who want to claim damages never give them satisfactory. Seafarers are in urgent need of a way for Jack ashore, if opportunity this plan is used and no one else. So to protect himself from risks, the master likes the first boat that comes over the side. He examines the men for sick leaves, presents for the crew, he can treat on board, and sends the others to the hospital. The doctor often stretches a point in favor of the captain, and many a sailor has gone to sea when he should have been sent ashore to a hospital.

Best of All Nations.

A comparison of the commerce of the year with that of other countries shows that our exports of domestic merchandise in 1901 exceeded those of any other nation. The exports of domestic merchandise of the year ended June 30, 1901, amounted to $1,460,462,800, against $1,389,928,997 from the next Kingdom, $1,033,374,000 from Germany, and $803,880,000 from France.

Dead Matter Given to Charity.

During the year 23,362 magazines illustrated papers, picture-cards, etc., which could not be restored to owners, were distributed among the inmates of the various hospitals, asylums and other charitable institutions of the District of Columbia, by order of the postmaster general.

Aricie Fox Catch.

During the winter of 1900-1901, 410 blue-fox skins and 28 white-fox skins were taken on St. George's End, and 153 blue and one white on St. Paul's Island.

Capitalization of National Banks.

The total capitalization of national banks at present is $663,000,000. They have a surplus and undivided earnings fund of $100,000,000.

EUGENE FIELD.

Best Work Was Done in Poverty—His Master Library.

"There were two Field—the author and the man," says Slaven Thompson, in the biography of Eugene Field which the Scribnerians have just published, "and it is the purpose of this study to reproduce the latter as he appeared to those who knew and loved him for what he was personally, for the benefit of those who have only known him through the medium of his writings."

"In doing this it is far from my intention and farther from my friendship to disturb any of the preconceptions that have been formed in the perusal of his works. These are the creations of something entirely apart from the man whom genius produced them. His fame as an author rests on his printed books, and will endure as surely as the quality of his art was true, his methods severely simple, and his spirit gentle and pure. In his daily work the dominant note was that of fun and conviviality."

It is more probable that Eugene Field chose Chicago for the place of his permanent abode after deliberately weighing the advantages and limitations of its situation with reference to his literary career. He felt that it was as far east as he could make his home without coming within the influence of those social and literary conventions that had squeezed so much of genuine American flavor out of literature.

"He had received many tempting offers from New York new-paper before coming to Chicago, and after our acquaintance I did not believe a word by which that Field did not decline an engagement, partially tendered by Mr. Dana, to go to the New York Sun at a salary nearly double that he was receiving here."

"But, as he told Julian Ralph on one occasion, he would not live in, or write for, 'the east.' For as he put it, there was more liberty and fewer literary 'fetters' out west, and a man has more chance to be judged on his merits and 'grow up with the country.'

"Practically all Field's scholarship and mental equipment, so far as they were obtained from books, were acquired after he came to Chicago, and has never been lifted above the ragged edge of incompetence until he began to receive royalties from the popular edition of 'A Little Book of Western Verse' and 'A Little Book of Profane Tales.'

"His domestic life was spent in flats or rented houses until less than five months before his death. The photographs taken a few months before his death of Eugene Field's home and the beautiful library in which he wrote are glistened travesties on the no-nonsense character of his domestic arrangements for many years before June, 1895—dates for which he argued. Just as likely to interfere for four brief months."

"All the best Field wrote between 1890 and 1900—and it includes the best he ever wrote—except 'The Love Affairs of a Bibliomaniac'—was written in a room to which many a local extitist had, and his son library was a dilated edition of Bartlett's 'Familiar Quotations.' Cruden's 'Concordance of the Bible,' and we'll l-thumbed copy of the King James version of the Bible. He detected the revised version. The genius of this man at this time did not depend on scholarship or surroundings, but on the companionship of his fellows and the unconventionality of his home life."

THE HORSE IN CONGRESS.

BILL Introduced Which Would Prevent Docking of His Tail in District of Columbia.

Senator Gallinger's bill making it unlawful for any person to dock the tail of a horse within the District of Columbia was introduced at the instance of the Washington Humane Society, which recently passed resolutions thanking President Roosevelt for his determination not to have a pair of short-tailed carriages. Several bills were otherwise rejected because they had short tails, and the president's bold stand on this question was heralded far and wide.

What the Humane Society did not know at the time it passed the resolution was that Senator Gallinger does not know it is that President Roosevelt's favorite riding horse, Belknap, has had his tail docked so closely that there is not enough left to waggle.

However, Mr. Gallinger's bill provides just the reverse, that after 60 days a law every animal docked in the district shall be registered, and that after 90 days from its passage any person driving an unregistered docked tail animal will be held to have violated the law and shall be fined $100. The fine is $50 and 90 days in jail for each offense.

HYPNOTISM BECOMES A FAD.

Several of the Students of Syracuse University Become Experts in the Mysterious Art.

The students of Syracuse university have taken up the fad of hypnotism, and have been helping in their experiments by giving their fellow students so lots of funny "stunts." The experimenting was started by J. Richard Street, professor of psychology, who is a firm believer that hypnotism will come to be used legitimately in many useful ways. He taught the students how to hypnotize and encouraged them in their experiments.

At the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house the boys perform in a manner highly amusing to spectators. The first hypnotist shown is A. H. Hulker, the chief of who is an expert hypnotist. He gave an exhibition before several people, and succeeded in putting E. A. Lowther, 1902, into a hypnotic state, and has his fellow student completely at his mercy. Hulker says he can hypnotize anyone.

Chinaman Has a Key on Americans. "In the town of Zamboanga, in the island of Mindanao, Philippines, Representative Mercer, who has just returned from the Philippines, all Americans are called 'Johns' by the natives—men, women and children alike. You know in the United States that Chinamen are 'Johns' and they do not relish it at all, as they have their names like any other nationality. A Chinaman who had some experience with the custom referred to lived in Zamboanga, and when he heard that the natives were coming he hurried around to an old inhabitant of the village and informed them that there was nothing which the Americans regarded as a greater compliment than being called 'John.' Consequently, wherever an American goes in that village the natives bow down to him and call him 'John.' Then they look pleased, and their manner indicates that a few copper coins would be appreciatively received, and they cannot understand why the Americans do not respond."

Need of Straight-Jackets. A New Jersey girl is engaged to be married to her grandfather, but the Chicago Record-Herald expresses the hope that both may be fitted with straight-jackets before they can find a wreath.

The Kind You Have Always Bought. The Kind You Have Always Bought of Chatt. H. Fletcher

It is the quintessence of impudence when a quondam Lieutenant-Colonel of Royal Riders, by fortuitous circumstance flung into the position of Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, complacently admonishes a hoary hero, who has displayed flawless courage in every quarter of the globe, that "danger must not be weighed too nicely by those whose trade it is to dare greatly for the honor of the flag."

TORTURE—OF HINDOOS.

Terrible Punishment of a Native for Breaking a Rule of caste.

Frederick T. Dyer, of New York, says he is a visitor in India, growing in interest in the country to a friend in Ceylon, N. J., regarding the castes and now finds influence of castes and superstition of India as strong as ever, and what a contrast it is to America, for in fact not so much.

white men are styled 'Fakirs.'

There seems to be a countless number of castes. The two principal castes are Hindoo and Mahomedan.

Laugh and Grow Fat."

Life is such a serious business to the average mortal that an opportunity for a hearty laugh is more welcome to most people. "A merry heart doth good like a medicine," and so do the humorous features of that great metropolis daily, The Chicago Record Herald. The first thing that greets you on the first page of every issue is the humorous cartoon by John T. McCutcheon, the well-known artist, that frequently tells more at a glance than could be conveyed in a column of reading matter. Every issue contains also a humorous small story on the editorial page and the "Alternating Currents" column written by S. E. Kizer, one of the most popular humorists in the country. In addition to all these the Sunday issue always includes a comic section, guaranteed to produce laughter.

Mr. Wheeler Got Rid of His Rheumatism

"During the winter of 1898 I was so lame in my joints, in fact all over my body, that I could hardly hobble around, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. From the first application I began to get well, and was cured and have worked steadily all the year.—R. Wheeler, Northwood, N. Y.—For sale by all druggists."

INTERVIEW

Of One of Hopkinsville's Successful Business Men.

A Live Working Board of Trade Needed to Build up the City.

The continuous increase in the population of Hopkinsville is most remarkable. Year after year people are moving into the city from the surrounding country and elsewhere, and there is no reason to apprehend a cessation. As fast as residences go up they are occupied, and this increase in population naturally calls for putting on foot enterprises that will afford employment for those who have to labor to maintain their families. There is plenty of capital that is now earning a very small percentage, which if invested in safe enterprises would, without doubt, yield its possessors fifty per cent. more than it is invested in bonds.

This is not the opinion of a man not possessed of capital himself, but can always see an opening for some one else more fortunate than himself.

One of the most successful business men in the city asserts that Hopkinsville has arrived at a point in its history when our people will be compelled to reach out and appropriate some of the great opportunities that are almost everywhere within our grasp and are allowed to pass by without notice.

We will lay before the readers of the KENTUCKIAN the substance of what he stated in a recent interview, knowing full well that an intelligent public cannot possibly disagree with him. They are facts palpable that anyone can recognize them as such.

He stated in the outset that this great need of our city is a well organized, working Board of Trade. He can't see why the solid business men of Hopkinsville can be so indifferent to the necessity of such an organization.

"Cities the size of this all around us have such organizations and reach out after everything that goes their way. What would Louisville do without its Board of Trade and Commercial Club? See what Lexington's business men are doing for that place. Even ancient Frankfort 'has got a move on itself.' It absolutely knocked the bottom out of the capital removal question, and is now straining every muscle to secure the erection of a new capital building. When that is done the capital removal question will be buried under the new capital's foundation. He says if we had a working Board of Trade the government building that this place is entitled to would have already been completed. As an advertisement this building would be worth $50,000 a year to us.

In this paper last issue we published a letter from Congressman H. D. Allen as to the prospect of Hopkinsville securing a public building.

The gentleman made reference to the Baxter road that is being built mainly through efforts of the citizens of Clarksville men. Being pointed this way, he thinks a Board of Trade could have this road extended to Hopkinsville. He says that Hopkinsville now has almost everything except a public building and electric street cars to make it a perfect little city. He is satisfied that a Board of Trade could easily direct the capital necessary to put in the latter in a short time. Two years ago a millionaire wrote to a friend in this city asking for information as to our population, etc., and expressed his willingness to invest some of his money in that way. As there was no Board of Trade or Commercial club here this opportunity was lost. He says that such things pass our way every day, but owing to want of organization of our business men capital goes elsewhere for investment.

Another great need is factories of different kinds. They can be secured if inducements are held out to those who want to establish them. Everybody realizes the necessity of factories, but somehow our people have never "gone for them" as they should. Nothing contributes as much to the building up a city as factories of different kinds. South Bend, Indiana, has now a population of 35,000 and pays out every week to employees $55,000. This is strictly a manufacturing city. There is every reason to believe that Hopkinsville might in a few years have a population as large as South Bend. Here we are, 75 miles from any large shipping point, surrounded by the most productive country in the world, our people the best in the world, but lacking the push and enterprise to make Hopkinsville one of the best little cities in the country.

Only a few weeks back a number of gentlemen, seeing the great necessity of an electric car line to the coal mines, talked the matter over among themselves and concluded to push the enterprise. Abundant willingness manifested itself on the part of others approached on the subject to prove that the project could be carried out if some one possessed of the requisite push would take hold of it. A live Board of Trade would never have let this thing die aborbing. What we need is a putting together of the heads of the business men of the city to prove the wisdom of the gentlemen we have so freely quoted. He is not afraid to back up his opinions with money. He always invests freely in any new enterprise that is gotten up. His opinion in business matters is worth something. Anything that he considers safe is not allowed to pass by if he can avoid it. He is not visionary, but carefully weighs everything that comes before him.

Smoothing That Will do You Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be really good to them.

For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup.

We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with much success. We have found it safe as long as it has become a household necessity.

By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers especially those who have small children always keep it in their houses as a safeguard against croup.—Camden (S. C.) Messenger. For sale by all druggists.

SPAIN'S YOUNG KING.

Will Assume the Responsibility of Office Next May.

Statements as to the Youngster's Health and Resources will have Priority of Board official Work to Permit.

A series of visits to the chief European courts and capitals is shortly to be paid by the young king of Spain, who will form at once his debut to the world and the finishing touch to his education.

The boy king has now entered his sixteenth year, for it was the 16th May, 1886, when he was born. According to the anxious question that the widow of their dead king had borne a son, Maria Christina, now no longer called the Austrian, has accomplished the greater part of her task. In May next she will have the regal crown on her only son and will assume the dignities and responsibilities.

Alfonso XIII. is at first sight a delicate lad—thin, pale and nervous in appearance. Some say he is the spittake of his father, others that his appearance is due to the fact that he shares in common with all the men of the house of Hapsburg. During the maneuvers he carried the young king round seven hours in the saddle without any sign of fatigue, and his personal staff noticed that even a prolonged canter did nothing to weaken his voice. When the day's work was over he was as animated as he was at the beginning. This is excellent, but it does not go far enough. He is already handicapped by his responsibilities. An English lad at 15 years, whatever his position, would not be carrying half the load.

Knowledgeable by birthright, he speaks English, French and German as well as Spanish; has a careful mathematical training, is a student of history and is devoted to military matters. For a boy his knowledge is quite uncommon.

The Constitution of the United States of America has put a new meaning into the word citizenship.

The high ideals of the fathers of our country have laid the foundations of good citizenship in such a way that the industrious, high-minded, ambitious men and women of all nations have flocked to our shores. The present prominence of our nation among the nations of the world and its new fields of usefulness and power have given to American citizenship a fresh inspiration toward true living and great accomplishment.

The high sentiments of our Chief Executive in his address, "The New Citizen," printed in The Youth's Companion, are fittingly published in the Washington's Birthday Number.

If the young king becomes a reactionary he will oppose the radicals and strengthen the republicans if he shows too much zeal for reform he will weaken the allegiance of the conservatives and the support of the reactionaries. They say in Madrid that his best policy lies in a continuance of the existing order of things and a devotion to such works as the improvement of the financial situation, the substitution of some less direct method of taxation from the octroi duties, and the maintenance of army efficiency, the creation of a navy small on the most modern lines and the granting of such concessions to the monarchic Spanish official mind can accept without offense. It is not a very heroic programme, nor is it one that can appeal very strongly to a young, enthusiastic, ambitious ruler; but Spain is a very tired country just now; she has passed through several years of internal convulsion.

The tobacco manufacturers of Louisville say that they will have to leave the State should the bill become a law requiring them to label their goods with the ingredients used in their manufacture.

Twenty-three Years.

In view of the fact that the KENTUCKIAN has wound up its 23rd year of success, it is not out of place to say a word to its friends. The KENTUCKIAN has long since become a fixture of Hopkinsville.

All Newspaper Records in the City Have Been Broken by it.

No other paper ever published in Hopkinsville can point to a record of more than 20 years, with each year's business better than the one before. How many papers in that time have tried to run in Hopkinsville and failed by the wayside? How many have failed to reach the goal?

An ocean cable 10,000 miles long would not serve the purpose for which it was designed if it fell short within twenty feet of the receiving-instrument.

It isn't the first end that counts. It's the last end. The start is nothing. Every contestant starts in a race, but how many finish? Almost any horse can begin in a race. Wish a few trials, ever an old plug may get away from the wire all right, but it's the coming under the wire for the last time that counts, it's being in the race to the finish that is alone valuable.

A great many things in this world are made to begin well enough, but they fall short.

The KENTUCKIAN as an advertising medium has never fallen short. As a news medium, occupying a field of its own choosing, it has for 20 years stood squarely upon its merits and succeeded.

WHERE OTHERS FAILED.

Advertisers should bear this in mind. Money spent for Newspaper Advertising is an investment. It is not how much the advertising costs, but how large will be the returns. The mission of Newspaper Advertising is to Sell Goods. When the careful merchant has decided the important question as to the right medium, then, by attractive display advertising in that medium, he will inevitably increase sales. This result follows as surely as day follows night. The

THIS AND THAT.

The power plant at St. Louis' exposition will be the largest in the world and exceed the power of 31,000 horses.

The loftiest tableland in the world is that of Assury, in the Andes. An area as big as Yorkshire lies at a height of 13,500 feet.

A painted white swan on a dark panel at the sportman's show, Philadelphia, is so lifelike that visitors insist on touching the surface to make sure that it is not the work of a taxidermist.

In 1273 Friar Bacon predicted that flying would "shortly" become a general practice, and Bishop Wilkins in 1652 said: "It will yet be as usual to hear a man call for his wings when he is going on a journey as it is now to hear him call for his boots."

Civil engineers and river men who have been watching the course of the Missouri river for some time, endeavoring to account for the extremely low stage of water, believe that some subterranean waste of the waters that were formerly drained by the Missouri river is gradually lessening the volume of water.

The shortest peoples in the world are the Eskimos, the Lapps, the Negroes and the Akkas of mid-Africa. North America, England, Prussia, Sweden, Poland, Manchuria and China rank among their peoples the tallest members of the human race; very tall men and women are also to be found among the Patagonians.

The plow is certainly the oldest and probably the simplest of agricultural implements, being represented among the hieroglyphics on the ancient tombs of Egypt, dating back more than 4,000 years. As early as the year 1000 B. C. the plow was described by a Greek historian as consisting of a beam, a share and handles.

JEALOUS DOG'S REVENGE.

Neglected Pet Chews Up Tires of a New Bicycle.

People who know dog nature say that the more affectionate a dog is the more jealous it is. A small black poodle out in Flatbush recently gave a curious exhibition of jealousy that is chiefly remarkable for the amount of intelligence back of it.

Fido is a French poodle belonging to Mr. Thomas B. McDowell, former city surveyor of Brooklyn, says the New York Herald. It is particularly attached to Master Fred McDowell, the 14-year-old son. Fred has recently become the proud owner of a bicycle, and now spends all his spare time on the wheel. Poor Fido is sadly neglected.

That the dog feels this neglect it has shown in several ways. One of the symptoms that appeared very human was to draw attention to itself by barking, and this it would alternate by a fit of more than usual affection toward its master.

As the boy was going out to wheel not long ago, Fido followed him out on the sidewalk, looking very sulky. As the boy was starting off, the dog leaped at the bicycle and fastened its teeth into the tire of the hind wheel. Such was its fit of rage that it had to be beaten off.

This did not end the matter, so far as Fido was concerned, and it at once resumed plotting against the hated rival, this time with more success. When Fred went for his wheel the other day to take his accustomed ride he was surprised to find the tires of both wheels chewed up and torn almost to shreds in places, and both of them as flat as pancakes. Now the whole McDowell family is asking: Who but Fido could have done it?

Professional Weddings.

What is known as the "pay wedding" is popular in Germany. The bride receives the guests with a basic set before her, and into this each visitor entering the reception-room drops either some jewelry, a silver spoon, or a piece of money. In some parts of the country the expenses of the marriage feast are met by each guest paying what he or she may eat and drink. Some visitors pay high prices, and the happy couple make a handsome profit out of their wedding, as many as 300 guests often being present at such a festival.

Work for Explorers.

Explorers have approached within 238 miles of the north pole, but the nearest approach to the south pole has been 772 miles.

Berlitz Fond de Goss.

It is stated that the total value of gosses consumed in Berlin will exceed $3,000,000, and the consumption is increasing rapidly.

Jerome K. Jerome's splendid comedy, "Miss Hobbs," will be presented at Holland's Opera House by the Vendome Stock Company next Monday night.

This company had been playing to packed houses in Nashville, until the Vendome theater was destroyed by fire, and they have been engaged for the next season.

Ninety-Fight Per Cent.

There is a fascination about big profits to a business man. But the conservative and cautious trader prefers to have the lesser per cent of safety in his investment. There is no business man who would not consider it a sound proposition to invest in an enterprise in which absolute loss was impossible and which offered ninety-eight chances in a hundred of a rich profit. The statistics of cures effected by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery show that ninety-eight per cent of cases of "weak lungs" can be absolutely cured. Almost if not all forms of physical weakness may be traced to starvation. Starvation saps the strength. The body is just as much starved when the stomach cannot extract nutrition from the food it receives as when there is no food. "Weak lungs," bronchial affections, and obstinate cough, call for nourishment. "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies that nourishment in its most condensed form. It makes "weak lungs" strong, by strengthening the stomach and organs of digestion which digest and distribute the food, and by increasing the supply of pure blood.

VIVID PICTURE

Of Thrilling Events By "Chevalier Bayard" of Army.

Gen. Gordon, who lectures at Holland's Opera House March 10, on the "First Days of the Confederacy," with one exception, is now the sole survivor who held high rank in either army and prominently participated at the close of the great struggle at Appomattox who is capable of giving to the people a vivid picture of these thrilling events. An orator, of the highest order, a soldier without previous training, whose rapid rise from the rank of captain to the command of one wing of Lee's army reads like a romance, who was designated, in official reports, as the "Chevalier Bayard" of the army, and who has devoted his time and talents to the reconciliation of the sections. Gen. Gordon must necessarily accomplish great good by his lecture tour, as well as furnish the young men of the country the only opportunity perhaps that will ever occur of learning of these great events from a living, capable and faithful witness.

A Big Strike.

The manufacturers have made a strike for lower prices and F. C. Holis at Pembroke has followed them up and cut prices accordingly from 25 to 50 per cent on all undertaker's goods and furniture in proportion.

Was founded March 5, 1901, and has been in progress ever since and with the greatest results and encouragement. We have a large enrollment and have secured positions for every one of our graduates, without a single exception, and many of them are holding some of the most responsible positions, with salaries ranging from $35 to $125 a month. No better school anywhere.

We have four of the very best teachers of experience, who are graduates of the very best colleges in the South.

You can get no better, no more thorough courses anywhere. We are working for our reputation, hence it is to our advantage to thoroughly prepare our students and place them in good positions.

We are connected with three Employment Agencies in cities and are having many more calls for book-keepers and stenographers every week than we can possibly supply. All you have to do is to take a thorough course with us, and the consequences will take care of themselves.

Our tuition is lower than anywhere else. We have a boarding house to take all our students at $8 to $10 a month. This school is permanent.
